Help support innovation and become one of St Elizabeth Hospice's charity of the year partners

We're needed more than ever before. We first opened our doors more than 30 years ago and we're proud of what we have achieved so far.

We have cared for over 28,000 people with incurable illnesses and looked after their families as they struggle to cope with their loss.

Over the years, we've adapted and evolved. But there's more to be done. We've got plans in place to chart a course into the future to meet the sharp increase in demand that awaits.

About us

At St Elizabeth Hospice, we provide outstanding care for patients and families with life-limiting illnesses across East Suffolk, Great Yarmouth and Waveney.

St Elizabeth Hospice is an independent charity which provides its services free of charge. To do this, we rely heavily on the support and generosity of the local community in East Suffolk. It costs around £12 million a year to deliver our patient services, including associated support.

70% of our hospice costs have to be raised by us, 30% comes from services commissioned by the NHS.

Why work together?

St Elizabeth Hospice has been building successful and meaningful partnerships with the local business community for over 30 years.

Whether you're looking to engage employees and boost morale or networking and marketing opportunities to increase your brand awareness, we'll work with you to ensure your partnership with us achieves shared value and impact.

St Elizabeth Hospice offers a wide range of opportunities for your business to get to know the hospice and help support the work we do.

It's not just about money - partnering with St Elizabeth hospice will bring lasting benefits to your company. We want to fully understand the needs of your business and will work with you to achieve mutually beneficial partnership that inspire and motivate your staff and help us achieve our vision.

Why choose us?

Support a local cause: We are a local charity in your community. Your colleagues may have personal connections to us and will feel enthusiastic and committed about supporting us. Choosing us as your charity of the year is a fantastic way to unite your colleagues and contribution to the community.

Fundraising is fun: We have loads of fun ideas and ways for how you can support the hospice. From team challenges to Skydives, virtual events to taking on a Firewalk, we can work with you to find your perfect fundraising plan that suits you and your colleagues to keep everyone motivated through the year.

We will support you: We can support you to put together a plan for your fundraising and be there for you throughout your fundraising journey. From developing your goals to supporting staff with virtual fundraising ideas and helping you promote it - we can guide you through the process and find the perfect fundraising idea to suit you and your colleagues.

Thanks to the generosity of our corporate partners, our dedicated team of professionals are able to offer expert care and support to our patients and their families, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Your company's support will mean those in our community affected by life-limiting illness are able to live fully and die with choice and dignity.

What will we achieve together?

£3,000
would ensure our OneCall service can operate for the weekend

£5,000
would ensure that our Health Care Assistants can deliver 100 hours of care

£7,500
ensures that our Community Team can carry out 25 new assessment visits*

£10,000
would ensure that our OneCall service can operate for a week

*This sum would also fund laptops for the entire team.

Case study

Gavin Bloomfield's father was cared for by the hospice at home. As well as the practical care provided in Albert's home, Gavin used our OneCall phone service which proved to be invaluable.

"The hospice supported our family in various ways. Their ability to provide care in the community made the biggest difference to our family.

The OneCall service was invaluable, by providing telephone support and guidance. It was an important resource for us during Dad's illness, knowing that we had support and knowledge to call upon 24 hours a day.

The hospice supplied medical equipment and dietary supplements for Dad. The organisation also provided end of life care for Dad in his home.

The professionalism of the caring staff, and the compassion and dedication that they demonstrated meant so much to us at the time, and we will always be grateful for the support that the hospice offered.

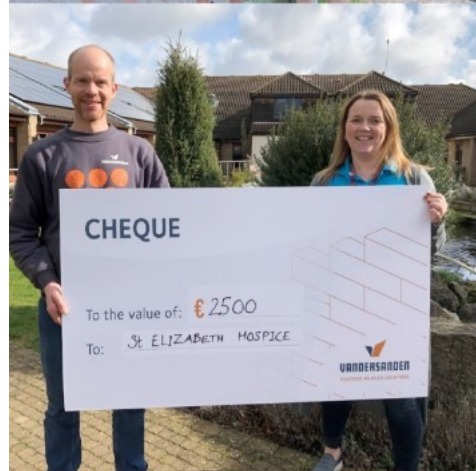

What I appreciated most about the hospice was the dedication displayed by the staff and volunteers and the respect and care they provided to enable Dad to remain in his home, a loving home, which holds many special many memories for all of us.

A hospice staff member attended when Dad died at home. I will never forget the dignity and respect she displayed, and how she helped Mum put Dad's wedding ring back on his finger.

The hospice has touched our lives immeasurably. I have visited the hospice since through my fundraising activities and attending the Sunflower Memories event, which was an emotional but special way to remember Dad."

Gavin has continued to support the hospice in memory of his father through fundraising events with the amazing support of his work colleagues at Vanersanden.

Gavin nominated St Elizabeth hospice to receive a donation from his employer Vanersanden. Thanks to Gavin's application the company donated £2500.

What we offer

Compassionate Workplaces

At St Elizabeth Hospice, we appreciate that workplaces play a fundamental role in the support of employees affected by bereavement, loss and long term illness.

Compassionate Workplaces is a free 2 hour awareness training session delivered in person (preferred) or online if needed, that is focussed on helping employers support their workforce when experiencing loss and bereavement and also to give guidance to HR teams around the development of organisational practices and policies.

The session is a really practical introduction for anybody (especially line managers and HR teams) that will help build staff confidence and competency, while supporting better long-term outcomes for businesses.
